

International of Conference Biochemical and Chemical Sciences (ICBCS-2014)

GO GREENER FOR SUSTAINABLE ECONOMY

The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry is organizing an International Conference of Biochemical and Chemical Sciences (ICBCS-2014) in February 24-26, 2014, under the theme of "Go Greener for Sustainable Economy". Holding such an international event is a matter of great privilege and pride for the department and the University of Agriculture Faisalabad, Pakistan. The department of Chemistry and Biochemistry has a very broad vision with commitment to achieve excellence in academics, research and outreach activities.

Objectives of the Conference:

The conference is planned to emphasize the role of Chemistry, Biochemistry and Biotechnology in building stronger and sustainable economies by employing environment friendly tools for improved human well-being. It aims to bring together biochemists, chemists, genetic engineers, agriculturists, environmentalists, eminent scientists and economists with multidisciplinary professional background on a common platform where they can barter over their thoughts through a series of research, development, and technology transfer initiatives regarding the role of chemical and biochemical sciences in addressing challenges such as global climate change, sustainable sources of clean water, food and energy.

The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry is organizing an International Conference of Biochemical and Chemical Sciences (ICBCS-2014) in February 24-26, 2014, under the theme of "Go Greener for Sustainable Economy". Holding such an international event is a matter of great privilege and pride for the department and the University of Agriculture Faisalabad, Pakistan.

The department of Chemistry and Biochemistry has a very broad vision with commitment to achieve excellence in academics, research and outreach activities.

Department Vision: A department with excellence in academics and research in Chemistry and Biochemistry, capable of producing highly competent graduates for addressing the needs of agriculture, health and industry.

Department Mission: To institute advanced research and teaching facilities in Chemistry and Biochemistry for highly qualified human resource development, and to cater the needs of local industry.

Objectives of the Conference:

The International Conference of Biochemical and Chemical Sciences (ICBCS-2014) is being planned under the theme "Go Greener for Sustainable Economy" to emphasize the role of chemistry, biochemistry and biotechnology in building stronger and sustainable economies by employing environment friendly tools for improved human well-being. The conference aims to bring together biochemists, chemists, genetic engineers, agriculturists, environmentalists, disciplinary professional background on common platform where they can barter over the thoughts through a series of research development, and technology transfer initiative regarding the role of chemical and biochemical sciences in addressing challenges such as global climate change, sustainable sources of clean water food and energy. We are confident that this event will bring together scientists, educationists and entrepreneurs to foster collaborative contacts, and to exchange information leading towards a green world with clean and friendly environment that could be assimilated in industry, agricultural education, environment and other varied fields of sustainable economies leading towards continuity of life on this planet.

Abstracts are welcomed in the areas of

- Environmental/Green Chemistry
- Analytical/Inorganic Chemistry
- Applied/Industrial/Textile Chemistry
- Agricultural/Food Chemistry
- Organic/Pharmaceutical/Natural Product Chemistry
- Physical/Computational Chemistry
- Material/Radiation Chemistry
- Biochemistry/Biotechnology
- Molecular Biology/Bioinformatics
- Bioenergy/Industrial Biotechnology
- Clinico-Medical Biochemistry
- Nano-Chemistry/Nanobiotechnology
- Green Economy

Abstracts Submission

An abstract with maximum 250 words should be submitted for oral or poster presentation in English language. It should include the title of the paper (upper case, 14 font size), author's name with their affiliations and E-mail address, typed using MS word, single-spaced, Times New Roman (12 font size) and left justified. 3-5 keywords should be included. All abstracts should be received through E-mail attachments only by 15 November 2013 to the conference secretary so that it can be included in the abstract book. Only abstracts of registered authors will be printed.

Authors of posters should consider the following instructions for setting up their materials:

- The maximum recommended poster size is 1189 mm x 841 mm portrait/landscape.
- Illustrative materials in the poster should be bold enough to be read by the viewers (Minimum font size for title 70 points and for text 20 points). Also, turn your idea into a concise message that is attractive, self-explanatory and eye catching.
- Make it easy for the viewers to interact with you.
- Proper mounting items (pins) will be provided at the site.
- Three best posters will be awarded cash prizes.
